STUDENT RECORDS – PARENT’S RIGHT TO INFORMATION

In accordance with the School Act, parents of school-age students shall be permitted to examine all student records kept by the District while accompanied by the Principal or designate to interpret the records.

A parent is defined by the School Act as:

- The guardian of the student;
- The person legally entitled to custody;
- The person who usually has the care and control of the student.

When provided with the appropriate Court Order, a Principal shall provide information to a non-custodial parent.

Further, specific court orders granted by the court concerning the rights of the non-custodial parent at the school are to be respected by the school to the extent possible.

Divorce Act

A non-custodial parent who has "access" is entitled to receive information from the school concerning the education of a child (e.g. report card), but is not entitled to examine the student records unless s/he meets the definition of "parent" in Section 1 of the School Act (e.g. joint guardianship).

Family Relations Act

A non-custodial parent with access under this Order would require a specific order of the court to receive information from the school concerning his/her child's education.

Separation Agreement

A specific court order is required granting a non-custodial parent, who has access, the right to receive information on the education of his/her child.

In the absence of a valid Agreement/Court Order, the custodial parent must give permission to the Principal, in writing, prior to any information on a child's education being provided to the non-custodial parent.

Requests for information, which cannot be agreed to jointly by both custodial and non-custodial parent, are to be referred to the Superintendent's office.
