The District expects that teachers will follow Ministry guidelines regarding diversity education, which includes discussion of LGBTQIA2S+ realities. The District will support and encourage staff to:

Employees who are out as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or any other LGBTQIA2S+ identity will be given the support they require to do their work in a safe and respectful environment.

STUDENT NAMES & PRONOUNS

The District will make every possible effort to work with the Ministry body responsible for running and updating the MyEd, CIMS, and any other student record systems to continue to make changes that allow for students to easily be recognized by their chosen names and pronouns. Until such time as the MyEd system can easily accommodate this, it is the classroom teacher's responsibility to make note of any students who use an alternate name and/or pronoun to that visible on MyEd. It is the responsibility of the TTOC to look for/read/use said information. It is the responsibility of the District and school site admin to make sure that this aspect of the procedure is adhered to. Furthermore, the process on student identity should be centered on the students' needs and desires. In this way if a student is using a different name and/or pronoun at school than what they are using at home then this can be made clear to all staff and honoured with respect to any communication with parents and other guardians and any outside agencies working with said student.

STAFF TRAINING

Staff training is an ongoing process and consists of various levels of training. To start, all employees will have completed the online module for harassment, which includes a section on SOGI procedure. This is a brief cursory training but in signing that employees have completed this training they are acknowledging the existence of this procedure and their willingness to conduct themselves in accordance with it. Next, there will be created a more robust online training module that staff will be required to complete that will give them further understanding of LGBTQIA2S+ realities and language. Further to this, the district is committed to providing more in-depth training on an ongoing basis through Pro-D opportunities for staff at various sites and at various times.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Asexual: A person who is not sexually attracted to any gender or sex. Asexual people may still be romantically attracted to people of a variety of genders and sexualities and have romantic, non-sexual relationships.

Bisexual: A person who is attracted to both women and men.

Cisgender: A gender identity that society considers to “match” the biological sex assigned to someone at birth. It is also a term used to denote both people who are not trans and the experiences of privilege granted on the basis of being cisgender. ‘Cis,’ an abbreviation of this term and is not a slur as it merely denotes the full term of cisgender.

Gay: A person who is attracted to someone of the same sex and/or gender as themselves. This word can be applied to all genders of relationships, but has primarily been used in reference to men.

Gender: A socially constructed concept of identity based on roles, behaviours, activities, and appearance such as masculine, feminine, androgynous, etc.

Gender Diverse: An inclusive term used to refer to multiple types of gender identities that fall outside cis and/or binary understandings of gender. ‘Gender diverse’ also uses strengths-based language, as opposed to more stigmatizing terms such as ‘gender minority.’

Gender expression: The ways a person presents their sense of gender to others (for example, through clothes, hairstyle, mannerisms, etc.).

Gender identity: A person’s internal sense of being a man, a woman, genderqueer etc. This is not the same thing as a person’s biological sex, and may not be consistent with how they are perceived by others.

Gender nonconforming: A term that often refers to children who express gender in ways that differs from societal expectations of the sex and gender assigned to them at birth.

Homophobia: The fear, ignorance and mistreatment of people who are, or are perceived to be, lesbian, gay, or bisexual. This often leads to bias, discrimination, hatred, harassment, and violation of the human rights of lesbian, gay, or bisexual people. Homophobic bullying can also be targeted against any individual, regardless of the sexual orientation that the person actually identifies with.

Intersex: Refers to people whose reproductive or sexual anatomy is not easily defined as male or female. There are a variety of ways someone can be intersex, ranging from having ambiguous genitalia to having mixture of XX and XY chromosomes. Intersex individuals have historically been mistreated in North American society (i.e. being forced to have “corrective” genital surgeries as infants). The term Disorders of Sexual Development is being used increasingly amongst medical professionals in reference to intersex conditions; however, this term has not been fully adopted by intersex communities at the time this policy is being written. The word hermaphrodite was historically used to describe intersex individuals; however, this term is considered highly offensive.

Lesbian: A woman who is attracted to other women.

LGBTQIA2S+: An acronym that represents queer identities in a broad sense. There is a wide range of other terms often included in this acronym. The plus sign (+) indicates the inclusion of all sexual and gender identities.

Non-Binary: A collection, continuum, or spectrum of gender identities and expressions, often based on the rejection of the gender binary's assumption that gender is strictly an either/ or option of 'male/men' or 'female/women,' based on sex assigned at birth. 'Nonbinary' can be both a specific term of identification and/or an umbrella term. 'Nonbinary' is not synonymous with 'androgyny,' as there are many different non-binary experiences and expressions affected by time, culture, and individual perception. Some non-binary individuals may also hold trans identities, but the terms 'non-binary' and 'trans' are distinct and should not be used interchangeably.

Pronouns: The words one uses to refer to themselves (e.g. he/him/his; she/her/hers; they/them/theirs; xe, xem, xyr, etc.).

QTIBIPOC: An acronym for Queer, Trans, Intersex, Black, Indigenous, People of Colour. Queer People of Colour often experience intersecting oppressions on the basis of race, gender, sexual orientation, and other factors. QTIBIPOC identities often face discrimination in both queer and non-queer communities. In Canada, 'QTIBIPOC' (Queer, Trans, Intersex, Black, Indigenous, People of Colour) is often used instead of 'QTIPOC' (Queer, Trans, Intersex, People of Colour) to call attention to the specific mechanisms and impacts of oppression experienced by Black and Indigenous communities.

Queer: An umbrella term (often used in place of the LGBTTQ+ acronym) used to describe individuals who identify as being part of sexual and gender diverse communities (e.g. lesbian, gay, transgender).

Sex: A biological classification based on physical attributes such as sex chromosomes, hormones, internal reproductive structures, and external genitalia. At birth, it is used to identify individuals as male or female. For those whose sex is not easily categorized as male or female see Intersex.

Sexual Orientation: Refers to a person's attraction towards a particular gender or sex. Someone may identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer, pansexual, etc. It is important to remember that sexual identity and gender identity are separate.

Transgender (Trans): Transgender, frequently abbreviated to 'trans,' is an umbrella term for a wide range of experiences and identities for people whose affirmed gender does not align with the gender they were assigned at birth. Being trans is something that can only be decided by an individual for themselves and does not depend on external criteria such as surgery or hormone treatments.

Transphobia: Fear, ignorance and mistreatment of people who are, or are perceived to be, trans* or gender nonconforming. This often leads to bias, discrimination, hatred, harassment, and violation of the human rights of transgender or gender nonconforming people. Transphobic bullying can also be targeted against any individual, regardless of sexual orientation or gender expression that the person actually identifies with.

Transition: A term most commonly used to refer to someone transitioning from one gender to another. Transition often consists of a change in style of dress, selection of a new name, and a request that people use the correct pronoun when describing them. Transition may, but does not always, include medical care like hormone therapy, counseling, and/or surgery.

Two-Spirit: An Indigenous term describing the embodiment of both masculine and feminine spirits. This identity is not limited to gender expression or sexuality, but encompasses them both while incorporating a spiritual element. It is a standalone identity, not an Indigenous term for gay or lesbian.
